[illegible]

These people were all very close to us. We were very close to them. We were very close to them. We were very close to them. We were very close to them. We were very close to them. We were very close to them. We were very close to them.

My dear Mr. Garrison
I have just received your letter of the 10th inst. and am glad to hear that you are well. I am well and hope these few lines will find you the same. I am very truly yours
Wm. Lloyd Garrison

This botanical illustration depicts three distinct plants. On the left is a large, broad-leafed green plant. In the center is a smaller green plant with a thick, brown, knobby root. To the right is a plant with a long, slender, yellowish root. The plants are rendered in a simple, illustrative style typical of early printed herb books. Handwritten labels in a cursive script are placed around the plants, identifying them. The entire illustration is set against a light brownish-yellow background.

The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the existence of a solution of the system of equations (1) for arbitrary values of the parameters  $\alpha$  and  $\beta$ . It is shown that the system has a solution for arbitrary values of the parameters  $\alpha$  and  $\beta$  if and only if the condition  $\alpha + \beta = 1$  is satisfied.

[illegible]

[illegible]

1. Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a manuscript page. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper. The script is dense and fills most of the page, with some marginalia or corrections visible. The text appears to be in a historical or religious context, possibly a liturgical book or a collection of prayers. The handwriting is somewhat irregular, characteristic of older manuscripts.
